Information Regarding the Legalization of public documents Issued by Hungarian Higher Education Institutions for Use Abroad

Public documents issued by Hungarian higher education institutions (typically: diploma, diploma supplement, gradebook, student status certificate, thesis, credit certificate, etc.) must be legalised if these public documents are intended to be used abroad. An exception to this rule can only be established by an international treaty.

General Information

Documents can be classified into two groups based on the state in which they are intended to be used, so a distinction must be made between the so-called Apostille certificates and the documents to be provided with the "classic" ministerial legalisation. The member states that signed the Hague Convention of October 5 1961 on the Abolishing the Requirement of Legalisation for Foreign Public Documents (hereinafter: Apostille Convention) decided to simplify the legislation procedure based on mutual trust and accept the legalisation by the state issuing the documents. In this defined circle, the documents must be provided with an Apostille certificate. The current list of member states is available here: (http://www.hcch.net/index_en.php?act=conventions.status&cid=41).

For those states that have not joined the Apostille Convention, the Ministry of Foreign Affairs and Trade of Hungary carries out the ministerial legalisation of the documents. In these cases, the documents must also be provided with the diplomatic legalisation of the delegation of the country of use accredited to Hungary. The legalisation process is finalised with the legalisation of the delegation.

The target country is not indicated neither on the Apostille certificate nor on the ministerial legalisation clause. Therefore, the Apostille certificate may be used in all member states without any further legalisation or certified translation. For the ministerial legalisation, diplomatic legalisation of several states can be obtained for the given document. In addition, there is no obstacle to the addition of an Apostille certificate and a ministerial legalisation clause to a public document either at the same time (if the applicant pays the fee for these two legalisations), or later, in a separate procedure.

The Apostille certificate is issued in three languages (Hungarian, English, French), while the ministerial legalisation clause is issued in English. Technically, the Apostille certificate is done by affixing to the original document, in case of ministerial legalisation, on the free surface of the document or - in the absence of a free surface - by affixing it, with a legible stamp impression, the signature of the person entitled to it, and the date. If the document consists of several pages (e.g. diploma supplement, credit certificate, etc.) then it may only be legalised if it is in the appropriate form – inseparably strung or stapled together. If the document is damaged, it is no longer the same as the original document; it loses its character and authenticity as a public document, so the legalisation can no longer be legislated.

Intermediate legalisation

For the foreign use of certificates and documents issued by state-recognized (Hungarian) higher education institutions, a so-called intermediate legalisation is required, which is carried out by the Educational Authority (OH). Following the intermediate legalisation, the Ministry of Foreign Affairs and Trade of Hungary provides the document with an Apostille certificate or a ministerial legalisation clause.

You can find detailed information about the intermediate legalisation of the Education Office here: https://www.oktatas.hu/felsooktatas/apostille_kulfoldi_fel_okirat_felulhit.

The National Directorate General for Hospitals can also attest the entitlement to pursue the healthcare activity if the healthcare professional of foreign nationality. The National Directorate General for Hospitals issues a certificate for use in the recognition of the diploma in another country. In case of professionals who intend to effectively work in the territory of Hungary other requirements are also have to be fulfilled in compliance with the conditions laid down in the relevant legislation.

Errors in form or content, due to which the higher education document cannot be legalised

- The document lacks the intermediate legalisation of the Educational Authority (OH) (original imprint of stamp and/or original signature).
- The document is not an original copy, but a photocopy, scanned copy, etc..
- The document itself or its accessories were damaged. (A multi-page document that was originally strung or stapled together was separated after it was issued; the binding or stapling, the vignette, the imprint of the stamp or the national-colour cord was damaged.)
- The binding or stapling of the submitted document does not comply with the regulations. (The document is not inseparable: the pages are not properly strung or stapled, any of the pages could be removed or replaced without damage.)
- If the official translation is required for the final use, it must be prepared after the entire legalisation process.
